Hi Tim,

How are you? Im sure doing better than me. I was e-mailing you on my account. When I came on board you had assured of this kind of thing. I know you will say the markets cant be predicted same as what James always says. But last time I checked, it was part of your job to predict the markets, that why you do this I assume. Just like I work in healthcare and manage costs. I have to be ahead of new accruing costs that come with supplies as technology grows. You literally had told me that would could easily get me 20% and go high as 40% on a return and just com eon board with your guys. So after scrambling the money together from my 401K and my parents, I decided to. From where I am sitting now I wish I had 2 to 4% return I would be happy let alone a 20% return. Its more like -100% now since all the money has been lost. DO you have anything to add regarding this because I remember you use to call almost every other day for me to get on board and once I started loosing money. You were never to be heard from or found. Even James would tell me that he is the advisor not you on my account which is fine but atleast call or e-mail. I am just in complete deep water with all this now.

Thanks
